🌐Project Overview

Morphic-Healing is a living archive of experimental HTML-based simulations, audio-reactive UIs, symbolic processors, and recursive field engines. It operates at the boundary of sound, form, and consciousness.

This project explores: - Symbolic recursion via HTML & JavaScript - Biofeedback-driven DSP prototypes - Morphodynamic field models (e.g. entropy, symmetry collapse, waveform memory) - A unique language of interface-level cognition, visualization, and metaphysics

Everything runs in-browser.

4 Core Concepts

- Morphic Compression: Encoded symbols parsed in-browser, simulate waveform resonance and memory structure.
- White Hole Collapse: A recursive DSP model that listens for symmetry and triggers field resets.
- Entropy-Evolution Field: Dynamic canvas sim of field stability under mutation + entropy pressure.
- Soul-Nodes: Semantic UI memory represented via `<morph>` tags and recursive `<echo>` signals.
